

ECHOES OF PREHISTORY

Technical File Monumental Vision

WINDOWS TO INFINITY

By Expotour Itinerant

What will the visitor see?

The visitor will peer through a window to discover a diorama that powerfully evokes the prehistoric era. This time, the centerpiece is a grand cave with an underground lake. In the foreground, a massive megalodon bursts from the water, capturing in its jaws a prehistoric bird mid-flight. It's a moment of tension and awe that leads into a vast landscape visible through the cave: towering mountains, smoking volcanoes, and lush vegetation teeming with dinosaurs of all kinds.

Winged creatures soar through the air, while ancient aquatic beings swim in the lake. It's a vibrant scene, until the climax: special effects transform the diorama as the volcanoes erupt, the sky fills with smoke, and the harmony of the dinosaur era is interrupted by the cataclysm that led to their extinction.

Next to this Monumental Vision, a screen projects a video with a renewed narrative on this event, inviting reflection. Visitors can also scan a QR code to access more content available in several languages.

At the end, the message is clear: the extinction of the dinosaurs was a natural event, but today we have the responsibility to care for our planet so as not to provoke our own destruction. It's an exciting experience that delights children and leaves an imprint of environmental awareness on all visitors.

ECHOES OF PREHISTORY

Echoes of Prehistory

More than 150 million years ago, Earth was dominated by dinosaurs. It was an era of giants: pterosaurs flew over vast skies, while the fearsome Tyrannosaurus rex, Triceratops, and Brachiosaurus roamed through dense jungles and ancient plains.

In the oceans, creatures like the Mosasaurus ruled with ferocity. But this era of splendor came to an end; 66 million years ago, the planet suffered the impact of a colossal meteorite.

The sky darkened with ash, temperatures dropped, and in a short time, 75% of the planet's species disappeared. Today, though they no longer exist, their history lives on in fossils, reminding us of something vital: life on Earth is fragile.

Their extinction invites us to reflect on our present and future. Caring for our world is the most important legacy we can honor.

FURIA

Furia is the undisputed king of prehistory. His staggering size and brute strength make him the most feared predator in the ecosystem. Although his nature is fierce, Furia is a clever hunter who uses both his intelligence and physical power. With a roar that shakes the ground, Furia is the unstoppable force of the group, always ready to defend his territory and his pack with fearsome combative-ness.

TOR

Tor is a brave warrior and the protector of the group. With his imposing head-shield and his three sharp horns, he is in charge of safeguarding his friends from any threat. Strong and loyal, he isn't afraid to face predators even if they are much larger than him. His tenacity and bravery make him a valuable ally, and although his appearance is rugged, he has a noble and faithful heart.

GIGANTE

Gigante is the serene colos-sus of the group. With his long neck and enormous size, he is one of the most majestic animals of prehis-tory. Despite his massive body, Gigante is peaceful and enjoys the tranquility of the vast plains where he feeds. His calm nature and his wis-dom make him the stable pil-lar of the group, always off-ering a collected perspective in the face of chaos.
